

AAUW and Leadership

AAUW Resources

Teleseminars

Covering the topics of communication, development, membership, and programs, teleseminars provide time-tested and new ideas and tools. These teleseminars are archived with the original audio and presentation material. Access these resources in the Member Center at http://www.aauw.org/member_center/teleseminar.cfm.

Leadership Tools for State and Branch Officers

Located in the Member Center, Resources for Officers offers a variety of leadership resources including charter, bylaws, and incorporation information, materials from recent Conference of State Leaders events, EdEqChange archives, and position descriptions for state and branch leaders. Visit http://www.aauw.org/member_center/branches_states/

Leadership Toolkits and Recommended Reading

Several tool kits and recommended readings are available in the Tools and Resources section of the Member Center. The tool kits cover leadership issues such as diversity, membership, and program development. The recommended readings include a number of books on many relevant leadership development topics. To access these tool kits, please visit the Member Center at http://www.aauw.org/About/leadership/leadership_dev.cfm.

Student Advisory Council

The AAUW Student Advisory Council is a national coalition of student leaders that advises AAUW on strategies for the future of young women and girls. To learn about the current Student Advisory Council, please visit http://www.aauw.org/About/campus_connection/studentcouncil.cfm.

Additional recommended resources

Women's Leadership Circles Leadership Guide

"Women Leading Change: A Resource for Women's Leadership Journeys," by Women's Leadership Circles, provides a comprehensive resource to the field of women's leadership development. The guide includes a primer on leadership studies; an analysis and perspective on multiculturalism, gender and leadership; interviews with different leaders; a leadership program scan; and an annotated bibliography. You can access the guide at <http://www.w-l-c.org/>.

Institute for Women's Leadership, Rutgers University

The Institute is dedicated to examining issues of leadership and advancing women's leadership and involvement in decision making in all arenas. The institute encourages scholarly and practical explorations of how institutions are structured by gender, race, and ethnicity and promotes new understanding of women's leadership. Learn more about their research and program offerings at <http://iwl.rutgers.edu/>.

Basic presentation skills

This website provides basic guidelines for preparing an effective presentation <http://www.managementhelp.org/commskls/presntng/basics.htm>.

If you have additional ideas for resources for this training, please contact the Leadership and Training Institute at lti@aauw.org.